

Dear Parents,

We have 6 confirmed teams of 6 players already signed up for the Quiz for Haiti on Wednesday (this includes the defending champs). We are probably going to limit the teams to 15 so please be quick in registering. Some people have asked me about singles and couples coming along and perhaps teaming up with others who don't yet have a team of 6. This would be absolutely fine - just email me names if you're coming and we if we get a lot of couples and individuals then we can just make them into teams of 6 on the night.

To whet your appetites a little, categories will include General Knowledge, Sport, Music and Geography and there will be a large picture round to mull over whilst we are eating. There will also be 2 mystery categories but none will include Dr. Who!

So please get calling your friends and get your team together and let's see if we get a new team of champions. We'd also like to raise lots of money for the Haiti disaster.

See you on Wednesday.

Gary Brand

PS If you know anyone outside school who you think will be interested then please let them know.
